Drop in Climbing -Field House Wall

An Auto Belay is a device that climbers attach to their harness that takes up the slack as the climber ascends, and then safely controls the descent as the climber is lowered to the ground. Climbers can clip in and climb without having to depend on a partner to belay them. The TRUBLUE auto belays allow climbers the flexibility to get in a quick endurance workout.

Before using the Auto Belays, all climbers must have a completed waiver & complete a quick orientation from our climbing staff before their first time climbing on the wall. This will allow climbers to use the auto belays anytime the Field House wall is open for drop-in climbing. Once your waiver is complete, you will receive a sticker that can be put on your picture ID. Present your picture ID with sticker to climb. If unable to present climbing sticker climbers will be asked to sign another waiver.

Orientation is offered during drop-in climbing times and is approximately 5 minutes in length. Orientation is subject to climbing staff availability.

Climbers under the age of 10 will need direct supervision by 16+ while climbing.
